General MacArthur Tells Congress:

JOINT CHIEFS SHARE HIS VIEWS

VANDENBERG

Vandenberg Dies At 67

Senators Honor Foreign Expert

WASHINGTON, April 19—Washington's uproarious welcome to Gen. MacArthur was sobered today by the death of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg in Michigan.

The Senate met with the House to hear MacArthur, and then recessed in honor of Vandenberg. He was the Senate's unquestioned Republican foreign policy leader and was often mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate.

Sen. Connally, (D) Tex., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that "Sen. Arthur Vandenberg was an able and patriotic senator. He had rendered distinguished service to the nation and to the world in the cause of international peace and cooperation."

House Speaker Rayburn, (D) Tex., declared: "Sen. Vandenberg was a great statesman and a great American. He was a tremendous help during his active service in the Senate."

THE SENIOR Michigan senator died in his sleep last night in his Grand Rapids home. He was 67 and had been ill since October, 1949, when he underwent the first of a series of lung operations.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon in Park Congregational church in Grand Rapids. Vandenberg's body will lie in state Saturday morning in the church chapel, which was built partially by funds he gave in memory of his mother.

Since the close of World War II he has been his party's spokesman on international affairs. He fought successfully in keep the bipartisan foreign policy from becoming a major issue in the 1948 presidential election.

Vandenberg's life was in the Horatio Alger tradition. He was born in Grand Rapids March 22, 1884. At nine he was a newsboy for the Grand Rapids Herald. At 22 he was its editor and publisher.

He was active in Republican affairs from 1912, but did not hold a public office until he was appointed to fill an unexpired senatorial term in 1928. He was reelected in 1934, 1940 and 1946.

Vandenberg's wife died only last June, also after a long illness.

At his bedside when he died were his three children, Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer.

Local Soldiers Meet In Korea

Two Circleville soldiers met recently while serving with the U. S. Army in Korea.

They are Cpl. Robert Fetherolf, son of Mrs. Clarence Rushing, and Pvt. Edward Brungs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brungs.

Cpl. Fetherolf has been in Korea about six months, while Brungs was recently transferred into his outfit. They both serve with the 728th MP battalion.

EIGHT INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED

Grand Jury Says Gambling 'Non-Existent' In County

The April grand jury Wednesday wound up a probe into gambling activities in Pickaway County with the conclusion that they are "either non-existent or recently eliminated."

The jury remained in session two days, examined 26 witnesses, returned indictments on eight cases and ignored four others.

No indictments came out of the gambling probe.

Concerning gambling, the jury reported:

"On investigation of the conditions in Pickaway County with regard to gambling we have investigated the conditions existing in every lodge and club in the county and find that gambling was either non-existent or has been recently eliminated; that every lodge has agreed to cooperate with law enforcement officials in the elimination of gambling."

"THE 24 SLOT machines for which a federal tax was paid were located and found to be inactive. We recommend that succeeding grand juries spot check the situation in the county to insure that gambling is non-existent."

In its official statement, the jury specifically listed only slot machines. It said nothing about other forms of gambling such as punchboards, the numbers racket or bingo.

Prosecutor Guy Cline said the jury issued unofficial instructions to the tenant of a West Main street building "to keep the place clean" with regard to gambling activities or run the risk of being required to vacate his lease.

Cline labeled the panel "a good jury," but added that "no one was burning with fire" on the gambling question.

In connection with the gambling probe, the grand jury questioned, among other witnesses, heads of local clubs and lodges. Appearing before the panel were the following witnesses:

GEORGE FISHPAW, exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge; Ervin Leist, head of Pickaway Country Club; James Callihan, official of Amvets; James E. Focht, official of VFW; Ed Ebert, official of the American Legion;

Carl Leist, Police Chief William McCrady, Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Harold Hott, Eddie Watson, Roy Wallis, Junior Fowler, Henry Wilks, Karl Herr-

Sea Bottom Being Searched For Lost Sub

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., April 19—The sea bottom southwest of the Isle of Wight was swept today with chains and wire nets in a last desperate effort to locate the British submarine Affray.

Little hope was held that any of the 75 officers and men trapped in the steel tomb under 200 feet of water can be saved.

Five minesweepers and a motor fishing vessel were engaged in the operation. It is a laborious but thorough method and admittedly amounts to a last resort in rescue operations.

Normal oxygen supplies were considered near the exhaustion point at nightfall Wednesday. At that time, the Admiralty expressed "grave concern" and said that "only a miracle" could save any survivors in the sub.

Admiralty experts agreed that the disappearance of the Affray is "the most baffling in the annals of British submarine service."

Their conclusion is that the ill-fated craft must be resting in a position in which it is at least three-quarters turned over. Otherwise it is felt that those inside could have made some use of escape chambers or at least sent up a marker buoy.

There is belief now that the sub went to the bottom because of some failure in the diving gear.

mann and Police Officer Turney Ross.

Courthouse spokesmen said that directives had been issued to local persons connected with numbers-writing, but that lawmen were "unable to find" such persons.

The grand jury completed an investigation of criminal cases before swinging into the gambling probe. The panel returned the following indictments:

John Garvey, 36, of Urbana, larceny. He is accused of receiving, concealing and transporting stolen property. Garvey also was

Rain, Flood Slow Allies

Air Operations Curbed Sharply

TOKYO, April 19—A series of drenching rainstorms cut Allied air operations to near zero today and heightened the effect of a man-made flood behind United Nations lines in Korea.

The new flood threat came from the vast Hwachon dam, which UN troops captured to find that Communist forces for the second time had opened its floodgates in an attempt to disrupt the Allied supply lines below Parallel 38.

The Fifth Airforce reported the torrential rains cut its operations to a mere 20 sorties, less than two percent of the number mounted at the height of the current Allied offensive into North Korea.

The Eighth Army's evening communique reported that despite their handicaps the UN forces continued to make limited gains against decreasing resistance.

The rains and the new Pukhan river man-made torrent descended on a valley already soggy from an earlier opening of the dam's flood gates.

THE REDS ARE believed to be awaiting the full-fledged coming of Korea's rainy season, of which today's rains may be the forerunner, to launch their expected 780,000-man offensive.

South of Hwachon dam, the Allies routed stubborn enemy troops with two slashing bayonet charges.

But UN troops punching up to Korea's third largest dam encountered no resistance. The floodgate strategem, which had been tried once before without success, failed again.

Before fleeing to the north, the Reds opened up eight of the dam's 18 floodgates, sending stored water from a 15-mile artificial lake down the Pukhan river valley in a muddy torrent.

An Eighth Army communique gave the location of one bayonet charge only as north northeast of Yonggong. The town is on the 38th Parallel below the Communist bastion of Chorwon in the west-central sector. Chorwon itself came within light artillery range of a tank-infantry task force.

UN troops captured high ground northwest of Yonggong in a second bayonet charge.

Old Man River On Loose Again

CHICAGO, April 19—A 70-year record flood crest roared downstream on the Mississippi today toward Dubuque, Ia., and Rock Island, Ill., threatening additional thousands of lowland residents along the mighty river.

Red Cross and volunteer crews worked feverishly to sandbag rainsoaked levees against the expected onslaught.

Further north, the Wisconsin cities of La Crosse and Prairie Du Chien battled to hold back the flood waters. More than 400 families have been evacuated from their homes in the two towns.

indicted by the February grand jury for stealing.

Arbrey Gant, 60, of Lowery Lane, larceny. He is accused of stealing a billfold and money from Grant Lemley.

Russell Moats, 39, of Town street, neglecting to provide for children.

Robert William McClarren, 41, of Toledo, two counts of neglecting to provide for children.

James D. Edwards, 22, of Columbus, robbery. He is accused of robbing Leon W. Mueller of $25.

Howard Dysart of Columbus, burglary and larceny. He is accused of taking goods worth $269.57 from Western Auto Store.

The grand jury ignored the following cases:

Charles Odaffer, 60, of Ashville, failure to stop at an intersection.

Lester Lonzo Lewis, 40, of Circleville, carrying concealed weapons.

James Downs, 37, of Columbus, selling mortgaged property.

Walter Milton Hettinger, 30, of Adelphi, assault and rape.

No arraignment date has been set.

Persons selected by the jury commission to serve on the April grand jury, which serves until late Summer, are as follows:

Geraldine McPherson of Orient; Fred L. Pearce of Circleville Route 4; Carolyn Stevenson of Jackson Township; Harry C. Baum of Harrison Township; Kenneth Emerson of Pickaway Township; Franklin Bailey of Monroe Township; Harry Hitchcock of 349 E. Union Street; Turney W. Kraft of Washington Township, the jury's foreman;

Mary A. McCrady of 328 East Mill Street; Martha Ebenhack of Circleville Route 2; Mildred A. Dowden of Circleville Route 2; Cleo Hines of Circleville Route 3; William Dick of Darby Township; George Himrod of 159 East Union Street; Luther J. List of Circleville Route 1.

Slot Machines Are Outlawed By Ohio House

COLUMBUS, April 19—The Ohio House voted overwhelmingly today to make display, possession or transportation of a slot machine a felony punishable by a fine up to $5,000 and a mandatory penitentiary sentence of one to five years.

The vote 110 to 12, with six of the "no" votes being cast by members of the Hamilton County delegation.

In an hour and a quarter debate, the house beat down all attempts to amend the bill, including one which opponents said would water down the measure by giving a prosecutor the option of prosecuting under the felony or under the misdemeanor statute.

Rep. Robert Reider (D-Ottawa), whose county includes the Lake Erie islands and contains 483 federally licensed slot machines, took no part in the debate but voted for the bill.

The amendment which would have permitted the prosecutor to exercise discretion was introduced by Rep. Joseph Schwartz (R-Hamilton). He disputed, however, that his unsuccessful amendment would have the effect attributed to it by Rep. Ken Robinson (R-Marion), chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the substitute bill and who steered the measure to passage.

Tax Probers Invade Ohio

CINCINNATI, April 19—Income tax investigators are moving into Ohio today, looking for profits from gambling, narcotics sales, the numbers racket and other illegal acts.

The federal experts invaded Cincinnati yesterday after several weeks spent in Northern Kentucky.

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR acknowledges the mass reception in his honor in San Francisco as he arrives home after 14 years of history-making service in the Far East. NO POLITICAL ASPIRATIONS

It Is MacArthur's Day In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, April 19—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, stripped of command and disavowing all political aspirations, was seeing his nation acclaim him today as its number one hero.

The conquerer of the Pacific, relieved of command by presidential order just eight days ago, stepped from his plane at Washington National Airport at 12:35 a. m. (EST). He was given a tumultuous welcome.

This morning, the general with his wife and son, rested in the presidential suite in the Statler hotel prior to his address before a joint meeting of Congress.

MacArthur completely divorced himself from politics in a brief talk in San Francisco before enplaning for Washington. There he said he had been asked

Merle Thomas To Leave Post Here June 1

Merle Thomas, Pickaway County associate agricultural agent for nearly two years, has resigned effective June 1.

The popular young agent, who has given this county one of the highest quality 4-H club programs in Ohio, is being assigned to the Greene County agent's office in Xenia.

There he will continue to hold the title of "associate agent," but will carry far more responsibilities than he had in Circleville.

The Xenia agent, E. A. Drake, has been in poor health and only partially active for several months.

Thomas came here June 1, 1949, as fulltime associate agent. He had directed 4-H club work the two previous Summers.

During his tenure here, he has been responsible for boys' 4-H club, county youth and county dairy programs.

He is a deacon in Circleville Presbyterian church, and a member of Nebraska Grange and the local Masonic lodge.

He plans to move his family to Xenia as soon as housing is available. He has a daughter, born in Circleville.

No successor to Thomas is in sight. Larry Besa, county agent, reported Thursday.

Formosa Must Not Fall To Reds, Ousted Chieftain Declares

WASHINGTON, April 19—Gen. Douglas MacArthur told Congress today that his views calling for a blockade of Red China, use of Nationalist Chinese forces and reconnaissance over Manchuria were "fully shared" by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

His announcement to a joint meeting of Congress brought the tensely listening members to their feet with a roar of approval.

MacArthur said that for entertaining his views designed to end the Korean conflict "I have been severely criticized in lay circles—principally abroad—despite my understanding that my views are fully shared by practically every military leader, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

The ousted Far East commander told the legislators and the world by television and radio that the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa "has had an opportunity to refute by action much of the malicious gossip that so undermined the strength of its leadership on the Chinese mainland."

Referring to President Truman's decision to move troops into Korea, MacArthur said: "That decision from a military standpoint proved a sound one."

HE SAID THAT "with our victory complete" against North Korea, Red China moved its troops into Korea in overwhelming numbers and created a "new situation."

He said this called for new decisions "but they were not forthcoming."

MacArthur said he was convinced that steps had to be taken to eliminate the "sanctuary given the enemy north of the Yalu river."

As a result, he proposed:

1. Intensification of the economic blockade of Red China.
2. A naval blockade of Red China.
3. Removal of restrictions on aerial reconnaissance of coastal China areas and Manchuria.
4. Removal of restrictions on the Republic of China forces on Formosa with logistical support to them against the common enemy.

MacArthur said that Formosa must never fall under Communist control.

He said he proposed these steps to "end the war with the least possible delay" and to save human lives.

Then he brought the crowded chamber to its feet in a rising shouting ovation when he added:

"My views were shared by every military leader of renown including our own Joint Chiefs of Staff."

IN OPENING his address before the joint meeting in the removed House chamber where every seat was taken, the general said that he was speaking with "neither rancor nor bitterness in the facing twilight of life."

MACARTHUR ENDED his speech at 1:10 p. m. (EST) after speaking for 46 minutes. He concluded:

"I have just left your fighting sons in the Pacific. They are splendid in every way."

"The war's growing bloodshed has caused me the deepest anguish and anxiety. Those gallant men will remain in my prayers—always."

At this, the general appeared to choke up.

After a pause, he continued:

"I am closing my 32 years of military service. When I joined the army it was the fulfillment of all my boyhood dreams."

"The world has turned over many times since I took the oath on the Plains at West Point. But I still remember the refrain of one of the most popular barracks ballads of that day, which proclaimed, most proudly: 'Old soldiers never die. They just fade away.'"

"I now close my military career by just fading away. An old soldier who did his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

"Goodbye."

New York City Expects To Give MacArthur Record Welcome Friday

NEW YORK, April 19—General Douglas MacArthur returns tonight to New York and five million citizens are expected to blow the lid off the greatest official welcome in the city's history.

The five-star general gave approval by long distance telephone to celebration plans outlined by Grover Whalen, New York's official greeter.

He made only one request—that on arrival he and his family be permitted privacy so they may rest in the presidential suite in the Waldorf Towers where they will stay for the next three weeks.

Whalen and his staff worked through the night preparing for the celebration, which will be touched off when the silvery Constellation, the Bataan, puts her wheels down at International Airport tonight.

Friday is MacArthur Day in New York by official proclamation and officials predicted an outpouring of people exceeding by far receptions accorded MacArthur in San Francisco or Washington.

Whalen said, "it's the biggest thing we've ever done. It will beat the Lindbergh and Eisenhower shows. The crowd will easily top five million."

THIS WOULD be one million more than ever took part before in one of the city's gigantic receptions to a national hero.

The public will be barred from ceremonies at the airport when the MacArthur plane, which will also carry Mrs. MacArthur, their son, Arthur, and the general's aides, arrives from Washington at about 7:30 p. m.

However, hundreds of flag-waving spectators are expected to line the route from the airport to the Waldorf in mid-Manhattan.

New York bedecked itself in flags, hunting and pictures of the "hero of Bataan."

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri directed city department heads to give time off to as many of the 173,000 municipal employes as possible to permit them to join in Friday's reception. He appealed to private employers to do likewise.

Fifty thousand public school children and 20,000 parochial school children were told they would have Friday off to enable them to join in the celebration.

The utmost precaution will be taken by police to insure MacArthur's safety. Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy cancelled all leaves for Friday and assigned an estimated 6,000 policemen to the parade route.

MACARTHUR'S arrival at the airport will be heralded by a 17-gun salute. The weather bureau said there is a possibility of showers at the time of his arrival tonight.

Television networks said that about 43 million persons are expected to see the parade and ceremonies over TV.

In honor of MacArthur, the New York Stock Exchange will suspend trading for two hours Friday. The last time this was done was on June 19, 1945, when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned from Europe.

erican defenses in the Pacific, won in World War II, are designed only to maintain peace and must be preserved in an unbroken line.

THE DISMISSED Far East commander said that "by this chain (of island defenses) we can dominate the area from Vladivostok to Singapore."

Safeguarding the United States from Communism in Asia he said is on a par of importance with guarding it from Communism in Europe.

"The issues," MacArthur said, are global and so interlocked that to consider the problems of one sector oblivious to another would be to court disaster for a whole."

The five-star general, in an historic address to a joint meeting of Congress, said that "the issues are global and so interlocked that to consider the problems of one sector oblivious to another would be to court disaster for the whole."

MacArthur began his speech in the House chamber at 12:34 p. m. (EST) after receiving a tumultuous ovation from the members and the gallery of dignitaries and guests.

MacArthur first praised the "forum" of Congress as representing "human liberty in the purest form yet devised. In it, he added, are 'centered the hopes, aspirations and faith of the entire human race.'"

The dismissed Far East commander bluntly declared he was "not an advocate of any partisan cause."

He said the "issues were quite fundamental" and must be "resolved on the highest plane of national interest."

The general continued:

"I TRUST YOU will do me the justice of receiving what I have to say as representing the studied viewpoint of a fellow American, with one purpose in mind, that of serving my country."

MacArthur declared that "Asia is the gateway to Europe." He said it is not true that "we cannot divide our efforts."

He said: "I can think of no greater expression of defeatism than that."

The general asserted that as long as "a potential enemy" can divide his strength on two fronts, "it is for us to counter his efforts."

MacArthur added: "The Communist threat is a global one."

He added that "you cannot appease or otherwise surrender to Communism in Asia" without also losing Europe to the Communists. These facts, he stated, are "general truths."

MacArthur declared: "We cannot appease Communism in Asia without simultaneously undermining our efforts to halt Communism in Europe."

Outside of these "general truths," MacArthur added, he will concentrate his address on the Asiatic situation.

The deposed general asserted that in order to understand what is happening now in Asia "we must comprehend Asia's past."

He declared: "It was long exploited by the so-called colonial powers. The peoples of Asia found their opportunity in the war just passed to throw off their shackles. . . they are rapidly consolidating their force."

MacARTHUR said that "the colonial era is now past and the Asian people covet the right to determine their own destiny."

He declared that prewar standards of life in Asia were "pitifully low but are infinitely lower now," and added:

"World ideologies play little part in Asian thinking and are little understood. They crave a little more food in their stomachs, a little more clothing on their backs, a little firmer roof over their heads and a realization of the natural urge for political freedom."

All of this, said the general, provides the "backdrop for contemporary planning" if America is to "avoid the pitfalls of unreason."

MacArthur said further there have been changes in the "strategic potential of the Pacific Ocean."

He declared that America's frontier has moved since World War II from the islands of the Americas to the Far East. He said the World War II salient in the Pacific "proved to be an avenue of weakness along which the enemy could and did attack."

But MacArthur said all this was changed "by our Pacific victory and our strategic front shifted to embrace the entire Pacific Ocean."

HE SAID THE Pacific Ocean is "a vast moat to protect us as long as we hold it" and is a "protective shield for all the Americas."

MacArthur asserted that from outposts in the Pacific, America can "dominate with sea and air power every Asiatic port from Vladivostok to Singapore."

He said this would prevent "any hostile movement into the Pacific."

The general added that any "predatory attack from Asia must be amphibious and no amphibious attack can be successful without control of the sea lanes and the air."

MacArthur said: "I have recommended in the past that as a matter of military urgency that under no circumstances must Formosa fall to an enemy."

"Such an eventuality at once threatens the liberty of the Philippines and the loss of Japan and forces our frontier back to the coasts of California, Washington and Oregon."

When the general made this statement, there was prolonged applause from both sides of the aisle.

MacArthur preceded his remark with the declaration that the Pacific can assume the status of "a friendly lake" on which peace can be maintained "with a minimum of expense."

MacArthur added: "This is a military estimate to which I have yet to find a military leader who will take exception."

THE GENERAL denounced the Chinese Communist government as "an aggressive imperialism with a lust for expansion."

He said that the interests of the Chinese Communists at this time happen to be identical with those of the Soviet Union.

MacArthur added, however, that China is a power in itself and that it is not motivated primarily by Communist ideology.

He declared: "There is little of the ideological concept one way or the other in the Chinese makeup."

MacArthur pictured China today as a nation made up of "masses (who) are desperate" because of their low economic status and their continuous fight for survival.

MacArthur stated that he has felt for a long time that the Chinese Communist support of the Koreans was "the dominant one" rather than that of Soviet Russia.

He declared that prewar standards of life in Asia were "pitifully low but are infinitely lower now," and added:

MacArthur asserted that from outposts in the Pacific, America can "dominate with sea and air power every Asiatic port from Vladivostok to Singapore."

He said this would prevent "any hostile movement into the Pacific."

The general added that any "predatory attack from Asia must be amphibious and no amphibious attack can be successful without control of the sea lanes and the air."

MacArthur said: "I have recommended in the past that as a matter of military urgency that under no circumstances must Formosa fall to an enemy."

"Such an eventuality at once threatens the liberty of the Philippines and the loss of Japan and forces our frontier back to the coasts of California, Washington and Oregon."

When the general made this statement, there was prolonged applause from both sides of the aisle.

MacArthur preceded his remark with the declaration that the Pacific can assume the status of "a friendly lake" on which peace can be maintained "with a minimum of expense."

MacArthur added: "This is a military estimate to which I have yet to find a military leader who will take exception."

THE GENERAL denounced the Chinese Communist government as "an aggressive imperialism with a lust for expansion."

He said that the interests of the Chinese Communists at this time happen to be identical with those of the Soviet Union.

MacArthur added, however, that China is a power in itself and that it is not motivated primarily by Communist ideology.

He declared: "There is little of the ideological concept one way or the other in the Chinese makeup."

MacArthur pictured China today as a nation made up of "masses (who) are desperate" because of their low economic status and their continuous fight for survival.

MacArthur stated that he has felt for a long time that the Chinese Communist support of the Koreans was "the dominant one" rather than that of Soviet Russia.

He declared that prewar standards of life in Asia were "pitifully low but are infinitely lower now," and added:

"World ideologies play little part in Asian thinking and are little understood. They crave a little more food in their stomachs, a little more clothing on their backs, a little firmer roof over their heads and a realization of the natural urge for political freedom."

All of this, said the general, provides the "backdrop for contemporary planning" if America is to "avoid the pitfalls of unreason."

MacArthur said further there have been changes in the "strategic potential of the Pacific Ocean."

He declared that America's frontier has moved since World War II from the islands of the Americas to the Far East. He said the World War II salient in the Pacific "proved to be an avenue of weakness along which the enemy could and did attack."

But MacArthur said all this was changed "by our Pacific victory and our strategic front shifted to embrace the entire Pacific Ocean."

HE SAID THE Pacific Ocean is "a vast moat to protect us as long as we hold it" and is a "protective shield for all the Americas."

CLEAN OUT THE TRAPS

Spring Housecleaning Tips Given By Ohio Fire Chief

COLUMBUS, April 19 — One-aching back from Spring cleaning may save nine when the fingers of fire start dabbling into Winter's accumulations of papers, rags and other debris.

And take it from State Fire Marshal Harry J. Callan, those little "catchall" traps are just the places where fires start.

Despite the fact that Fire Prevention Week is six months away, Ohio groups who know that fire destroyed $2½ million worth of property last year are participating in a Spring clean-up campaign that will remove many of those fire hazards.

A special plea comes from Foss H. Gragg, program director of the Ohio Fire Safety Committee in the state fire marshal's office. Gragg urged all civic-minded citizens, service clubs, chambers of commerce and fire departments to get behind the campaign.

HE POINTED OUT that 57 percent of all home fires start

Confidence Vote Given Premier

PARIS, April 19—French Premier Henri Queuille was given a new vote of confidence yesterday in the French National Assembly.

The vote was 311 to 240.

Balloting was taken on the Premier's request for postponement of questioning on his government's program. The program includes plans to hold elections next June.

Hollywood Red Hunt Is Delayed By Solons Until Next Week

WASHINGTON, April 19—House Red hunters temporarily closed their Hollywood Communist hunt today without naming seven star performers appearing in next week's reopening.

Un-American Activities Committee Counsel Frank Tavenner said the names of next week's witnesses will be released in a few days. Seven persons are scheduled to testify, and it is believed that one of them will be the Academy Award winner, Jose Ferrer.

Ferrer was originally scheduled to testify Friday, but the committee decided Tuesday's hearing would be the only one this week.

Committee sources said a report that Author Budd Schulberg will talk to investigators next week is "substantially correct."

Film Writer Richard J. Collins testified last week that Schulberg, author of the best-seller "The Disenchanted," talked him into joining the Communist Party in 1938.

Collins said Schulberg left the party in 1940 because of "ferocious" party criticism of his first Hugo Butler, Lew Solomon, Leonard Bercovici and Edward Huebsch.

Miss Morley, Uris and Bercovici were named as Communists in previous testimony.

Yesterday, Character Actress Anne Revere, Film Writer Harold Buchman and Radio Writer Sam Moore all refused to say whether they had been members of the Communist Party.

In each case, Tavenner told them the committee had information they belonged to the party in 1944 and 1945.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exercising or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

COMMIE STRATEGY CITED

Union Leaders Give Panel Aid In Anti-Red Fight

COLUMBUS, April 19 — Two Cleveland CIO leaders, with 65 years of union work between them, have outlined a program for combatting Communism in the labor movement before Ohio's joint legislative committee investigating subversive activities.

The two—William Donovan, director of District 28 of the United Steel Workers, and James C. Quinn, executive secretary of the Cleveland Industrial Union Council—said the same program they used could be used in the 85 Ohio plants cited before the committee as still dealing with unions ousted from the CIO nationally on charges of Communist domination.

Briefly, the two proposed taking a leaf from the Communist book and of having "the right people" outlast the Reds at union meetings. Quinn stated that "we taught our people to stay all night if they have to" to prevent a Communist minority from taking over a union.

The list of 85 plants, read into the record by Committee Chairman Kenneth Robinson (R-Marion) included 56 in the Cleveland area and 29 others in Akron, Bellevue, Bucyrus, Canton, Cincinnati, Dayton, Delphos, Geneva, Mansfield, Piqua, Sidney and Tiffin.

Twenty-five of the plants still have contracts with the expelled and now-independent United Electrical Workers. Five of them in Cincinnati have contracts with the expelled fur and leather workers union.

DONOVAN, WHO SAID he could "smell a Communist," said he would read Communist newspapers for information and then identify party members because they would "rise up in union meetings and advocate the same program word for word."

Donovan, a union leader since 1912, said there were four Communists in "the Kremlin"—CIO union headquarters—when he took over as district director of the Steelworkers in 1942. Two of them he fired, he said, and the other two quit.

Now, he said, the USW has 70 locals in the Cleveland-Akron-Lorain area with 1,200 local officers, "and there isn't one of those officers we suspect of being even slightly pink."

Both Donovan and Quinn said that Communism was a "national threat" to the war effort, and that the state committee should be made permanent in combatting the menace.

"The membership of the unions itself should rise up and drive these Stalin stooges out of the plants," said Donovan. He added, however, that almost equal responsibility rested on government, "which should repeal the Taft-Hartley law so we can oust a Communist from union membership," and upon the industries which "seem to have taken a liking to the Red boys and want to do business with them."

Donovan said the employers, in some instances, apparently were able to get Red-dominated unions to "settle for less" or "work a back-door deal" in order to remain in positions of power. He added:

"WE'RE IN A WAR, like it or not, declared or not. If we are fighting Communism, it is up to us to fight it also here at home."

Quinn said he had his first experience with Communists in the Labor movement when the Reds tried to take over steelworkers' picket lines in the 1937 "little steel" strike.

They grew to such power, he stated, that by 1942, when the right-wingers began to fight back in earnest, "there wasn't an American flag to be found in the building at 1000 Walnut Street—the Kremlin—although I did find three or four hammer-and-sickle Communist flags."

Quinn said the right-wing unions which had quit the CIUC in protest and disgust were persuaded to come back in and fight the Red forces. It was then that he said "we taught our people to stay all night if necessary."

The Communists, Quinn concluded, "have gone underground in Cleveland, but they haven't stopped hatching their plots in Cleveland."

Blood Supply For Baby Fought By Parents

CHICAGO, April 19—A Jehovah's Witness minister and his wife today fought for reversal of a court order that permitted life-saving blood transfusions—despite their objections—for their critically ill baby.

Darrell Labrenz, 25, and his wife, Rhoda, 20, who believe transfusions are "against the will of God," asserted that a Chicago court violated their religious freedom yesterday when it ordered medical attention for 8-day-old Cheryl Lynn.

But the RH baby—innocent pawn in the dispute between Biblical interpretations and medical science—already has received one transfusion and now is given "a good chance" for survival.

Illinois State Supreme Court Justice Walter V. Schaefer today will hear the parents' appeal for a reversal of yesterday's decision appointing a legal guardian who immediately requested transfusions for Cheryl. She was given 60 cubic centimeters of RH-negative blood.

Physicians still refuse to predict whether the infant will live. They say the transfusion may have been too late to save her life. She will be given another injection tomorrow.

Cheryl's blood count was raised from 1,950,000 red blood cells per cubic millimeter to 2,000,000 by the transfusion. The normal count is 5,000,000.

Legion Drum Corps Booked

Cincinnati American Legion drum and bugle corps will make its first 1951 appearance Sunday in Waverly.

The local organization is slated to parade in Waverly at 4 p. m. Sunday during a seventh district Legion conference.

Cincinnati's corps will travel to Bainbridge May 6 to play for a street fair. The corps is to appear in Bainbridge at 1:30 p. m.

Rail Revenue Hike Seen

RICHMOND, Va., April 19—Walter J. Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, expects the C and O to have revenue of $343 million this year, compared with $319 million in 1950.

Tuohy told stockholders at their annual meeting in Richmond yesterday that net income this year is expected to amount to $3.75 per share of more.

He added that wage increases may cost the C and O about $20 million in added payroll expense in 1951 but that a possible rate increase may offset the rise.

Births Exceed Deaths, Health Offices Report

Births exceeded the number of deaths in Pickaway County by 20 during March.

According to a joint report of city and county health offices for the month, a total of 46 births occurred while only 26 deaths were recorded.

Cincinnati's birth record for the month consisted of 23 girls and 18 boys, while the county births consisted of two girls and three boys.

Deaths in the county during March consisted of 14 reported in the rural areas and 12 in Cincinnati. Two of the county deaths occurred in Orient state school.

A total of 11 persons in the 71-80-year-old age range died during the month, while the 81-90-year-old range was next high with a total of five deaths.

Complete age range of deaths for the month is: 1-10-years-old, one; 21-30-years-old, one; 31-40-years-old, two; 41-50-years-old, one; 51-60-years-old, one; 61-70-years-old, four; 71-80-years-old, 11; and 81-90-years-old, five.

Corn Belt Cattle Feeding Said Up By Four Percent

WASHINGTON, April 19—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that as of April 1 the number of cattle on feed for market in the eleven Corn Belt states was four percent higher than on April 1 last year.

The increase, BAE says, probably is the equivalent of 110,000 head of beef cattle. Increases occurred in all corn belt states except Illinois and Indiana.

Ohio, Iowa and Wisconsin had five percent more cattle on feed at the beginning of the month than a year ago; Michigan and Minnesota, six percent more; Missouri and Kansas, 10 percent more; South Dakota, 12 percent more; Nebraska, one percent more and Indiana and Illinois, seven and three percent less, respectively.

In California, the number of cattle on feed on April 1 is estimated to be about 80 percent larger than a year ago. The normal movement of native stock to California feed lots, which usually starts about April 1, may be accentuated by poor range feed conditions.

Officials say imports of stocker and feeder cattle into California during January and February were about 45 percent greater than for the same months a year ago.

County Buying Fewer Bonds

Judge William D. Radcliff, Pickaway County defense bond chairman, said Thursday that sales of Series E Bonds during the month of March totaled $32,869. Sales for the same month a year ago were $60,731.

Sales total for the state was $17,812,719, a decrease of approximately seven percent under sales for the state in March, 1950. During the same period national sales dropped approximately 20 percent.

Woman Married Despite Divorce, High Court Says

COLUMBUS, April 19 — The Ohio supreme court has ruled that Canton Socialite Sports woman Patricia Jelm Still is the wife of Charles R. Jelm of Euclid despite the divorce decree granted her.

The high court yesterday upheld the Cuyahoga County courts which ruled in favor of the husband when he asked that the divorce be set aside because his wife had perpetrated a fraud in falsely telling him she had dropped her divorce action.

Mrs. Jelm continued to live with her husband while the divorce decree was pending and for six months after it was granted.

The supreme court held a common pleas court has the power to set aside its own divorce judgment, after the court term at which the decree is granted, whenever the judgment was obtained by fraud.

Ohio FEPC Bills Believed Lost In Legislature

COLUMBUS, April 19 — Two compulsory FEPC bills were given little chance today of ever emerging from a subcommittee which they were sent last night by the house industry and labor committee.

Chairman of the five-member sub-committee is Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan). Named to serve with him by Committee Chairman Robert Johnson (R-Medina) at the end of a session devoted to hearing opponents of FEPC legislation were:

Reps. William Burton (R-Cuyahoga), Thomas Christy (Ind.-Monroe), Mark Bennett (R-Hancock), and Virgil Perrill (R-Fayette).

It was Perrill who earlier remarked heatedly after Philip Frankfield, Cleveland district organizer for the Communist Party in Ohio, testified for the bill: "If you're for the bill, then I'm against it!"

TRIUMPHAL RETURN
GENERAL Douglas MacArthur's triumphal return from the wars in Asia has provided an opportunity for the American people to pay homage to a great American, and to reappraise the direction in which the nation is being taken and to voice their sentiments.

General MacArthur had not been on American soil for 15 years, but in that period he served the nation better than did any of his contemporaries in high place and the American people are fully cognizant of his great stature.

This spontaneous outburst of approbation for the General is the most heartening thing that has occurred in the United States in years. When powerful politicians, surrounded by all the obeissance $70 billion can buy, and supported by a sizable segment of the press—politicians who wiggle and wobble on the Communism issue, which they label a "red herring" one day,
"red-baiting" the next, and follow with boasts that they will never turn their backs on traitors—are stopped in their tracks by thunderous applause for MacArthur that rises ever louder and louder, proof is at hand that the American spirit is not dead.

The American people will never forget Douglas MacArthur's accomplishments. They should never for a moment forget that he is available to continue to serve whenever they call on him to do so.

DECLINE OF AN EMPIRE DECLINE of the British empire may be one of the biggest events in history of the present century. The British seem to be unable, or unwilling, to reverse the trend.

British forces are embattled in Malaya and Singapore, where Communist rebels have proved very troublesome. Britain has committed most of its armed strength to Asiatic regions. British rubber barons of southern Asia ride in bullet-proof cars, yet more than a score of them have perished.
Britain no longer can protect them. The British are covering in Hong Kong while trying to appease the Chinese reds, apparently convinced that the latter could gobble them in a bite.

Egyptians demand that the Suez Canal be turned over to their control, in accordance with an old agreement, but the British cannot trust Egypt.

For a hundred years the British empire was the most powerful empire. It broke up every aggregation of nations that threatened to develop superior strength. But the Communists, with a genius for infiltration, have slipped up on the British and the world will never be the same again.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

It would be unfortunate if the return of General Douglas MacArthur means nothing more than a personal wrangle between President Truman and the general, or even a political quarrel between Republicans and Democrats.

Much more is at stake. Let us restate
some of the issues:

1. Europe versus Asia: The United States is actually at war in Asia, costing already 60,000 casualties, including about 10,000 dead. In Europe, we are not actually at war, but are preparing a political action of some 12 nations involving a defensive but not an offensive alliance.

The issue is: Shall the United States pull in its horns in the Asiatic action in order to extend itself in Europe?

2. In Asia, how long can the United States fight a limited war, at great loss, without permitting an all-out attack in a stalemated war?

3. Two governments exist in China: Nationalist China in Formosa; Soviet China on the mainland. The United States recognizes Nationalist China; so does the United Nations; but Great Britain recognizes Soviet China and labors for Stalin's satellite.

How can this paradox be resolved, as it must be? How can Great Britain maintain troops in Korea, where Soviet China is fighting the Americans and the British and the United Nations—and at the same time support the diplomacy of Soviet China?

4. The position of President Truman is that we lack the manpower to maintain large forces in Korea and at the same time send forces to Europe. Why then do we refuse to accept the forces which Chiang Kai-shek can give us? He is still an ally as he has been during the whole period of the war. Why should he be isolated? Prior to June 25, the Nationalists attacked the mainland, but since that date, our Seventh Fleet has been based on Formosa to keep Nationalist China inactive while Americans are being killed.

5. The British seem to be managing the American foreign policy. Why? Why must our policy be designed to support British purposes?

6. MacArthur, it is true, was a field commander in a war. But he was also a statesman engaged in the administration of a country, Japan. In this position, he gave evidence of being one of the most brilliant administrators in history. Never before has a conqueror come among a defeated people and so won their affections.

Is it not possible that Soviet China, through Great Britain and India, maneu-vered this situation with the object of keeping MacArthur away from the conferences concerning peace with Japan?

7. Why is it that on the very same day that the news was published of the President's dismissal of MacArthur, the story of MacArthur, the story was released from London that Great Britain demanded that Soviet China be given a seat at the Japanese treaty conference, and the minister for external affairs of Canada, Lester Bowles Pearson, announced that Canada would henceforth follow her own foreign policy without regard to the United States?

to dusk. When she makes an asinine statement, as many are prone to, he tries to get the newspaperman to forget he heard it. He stays her hand when she reaches for that extra cocktail, and he feverishly steers her off the subject when she praises the glory of Communism during an interview with a Wall Street Journal writer.

Now, the one item that the majority of these film actresses have in common is that they are all poor. It bursts from every pore, and the poor newspaperman has in himself is quite apt to rush back to his typewriter and go into rha-sodies over the woman. We never get to see the other side. The press agent does. I will meet one of them after one of these interviews and say "Wasn't that Tillie St. Claire a wonderful girl?"—and he will eye me coldly and mumble a little profanity.

For slaves like my friend Joe get belted from pillar to post by these performers. They are treated like dirt under the dainty feet.
Or, as if they aren't there at all. While the press agent hangs around endlessly, they recover from hangovers, bellyache about the lack of publicity they are getting, throw hair-brushes at their secretaries, swear like truckdrivers and generally behave like fishwives. The most eternal of stars—the lovely gossamer ones, who play the breathless vestal virgins in the epics—usually are the worst offenders.

The P. A.'s have one or two favorites among the movie people—stars who, generally speaking, are as nice after the newspaperman has gone as when he's there. I think Anne Sheridan is one of these.
If I remember rightly, Linda Darnell is another and so is Betty Hutton. The list of real bad ones is as long as a kid's Christmas-present suggestions. I am thinking of one brunet, hip-swinging tootsie whose arrival on the Twentieth Century Limited sends the press agents shuddering to their flasks for courage.

NOW, WHY DOES JOE want to leave the comparatively safe and quiet confines of Boston to get back into this rat race? Well, for one thing, he says he has discovered he doesn't have the necessary larceny in his make-up to be a really good attorney, even with his father's clients in his lap. But surely he can't have forgotten the headaches he had, the sleep he didn't get, the actresses he came close to belting over the head?

It will surprise you to learn that Joe is not alone. I have a few other acquaintances who have Gone Straight—one a woman press agent who now does publicity for a respectable weekly magazine—and they all have the itch to get back into the movie business. There must be some irresistible lure about being screamed to, sworn at, kicked and disillusioned. Or do you imagine that underneath it all, they are impressed at the glamour of associating with movie stars?

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE
THE IMPULSE seized Jennet to ride on to the Seneca village. It might be—oh, it might be that, with the river safe to cross now,
Peter had come back to Te-oahway.

But a quarter of a mile on, three Indians suddenly walked from out of the woods into the road, so unexpectedly and noiselessly that Aladdin stopped short, almost throwing Jennet over his head.

"How do you do?" she said, a little shakily.

Each Indian made some expressionless sound in answer. They had bright feathers in their fore-locks, but except for that they were the nondescript outfits of the local militia. Each carried an old musket. All three stood motionless, waiting for her to go on. But she must ask them... She had to force her voice over a queer terror tightening her throat.

"You are from Te-oah-way—perhaps—you can give me some word of Peter Brant. To tell my uncle, Quintus Darby. Where he is...?"

They looked beyond her, their faces blank of expression. Then one answered. "The Mohawks are no longer our brothers. They fight against the white men with whom we have chosen to ally ourselves." He spoke in as smooth English as Peter but his guttural voice gave his words an ominous sound.

"Not Peter..." protested Jennet but to empty air for, at a sign from the man who had spoken, and without a glance at Jennet,
the three walked across the road and into the woods on the other side. She swung Aladdin around to ride home.

"I hate war! I hate, hate it!"
She cried it aloud, and it released tears that would not come before.

Becky ran out into the yard to meet her.

"You missed it, Jennet! You missed seeing it!"
Jennet slid out of the saddle.
"Seeing what?"

"The brig! It's back—it went down the river. Another ship with it—the prize it captured, the men said it was. Everyone shouted and they shouted back from the brig.
If you hadn't gone off for a ride...
Becky paused to give her a sharp look. "Why for have you been crying?"

"May a person not cry when she wants to without remarks being made about it?" But Jennet's cross tone was from the keen disappointment she felt over missing the sight of the brig. She saw that Becky was hurt. "I'm sorry I spoke so, Becky. I was—upset over something."

Becky offered Jennet the only consolation she could think of at the moment. "With the brig back, Mr. Erron will be coming."

"Becky, I've told you..." Jennet stopped, knowing she was close to speaking sharply to Becky again.
She turned and led Aladdin into his shed.

But she felt her heart beating faster—of course, because the brig had come back. Aladdin stabled, she sought out Quint at the landing.

"Becky told me—does the brig look just as she did, Uncle Quint?"
"Aye." Quint used Dan's word.
He was staring off down the river where the brig had disappeared from view, and, for all she had returned to the yard as sound in timber as when she left it, the look of deep loss was on his face.

Lively talk went on among the men around them. Each knew something to contribute to it. The other ships in Perry's fleet were anchored off the Buffalo village.
A big banquet was to be given this night in MacLeod's Tavern to honor Perry and the men who had manned his fleet. Riders were covering the frontier, giving out invitations to attend. Others were requisitioning roasting fowls for the table. There'd be speechmaking as befitted the occasion. A great bonfire on the Terrace...

Jennet listened to it all with a growing excitement of her own.
Erron would be among those men so honored. Uncle Quint would be invited—and she would go with him. She had only the gray dress to wear but she would brighten it with fresh lace and ribbon.

It seemed now another girl who,
but a half-hour ago, had ridden homeward, utterly desolate in heart.

Presently the men around them went each his way, leaving her and Quint alone. His quiet was not encouraging and she asked with some apprehension, "We will go to the celebration, won't we, Uncle Quint?"

"We have not been invited."
"But you built the brig—it's yours..."

"It belongs now to the United States Navy." He looked at her, his face drawn in harsh lines. "If you are disappointed at not attending this banquet, I must take the blame for it. You see, I have let my loyalty become a matter of doubt—I am looked upon with suspicion by the more zealous among the patriots here on the frontier, and I fear you are under the same cloud."

"How stupid they are! You are as loyal as any of them. Just because you can't fight with only one arm... That is why that man in the store said the wedding probably would be across the river—he knows, they all know, that my father is in Canada and they think they don't know that I am through with him forever, that you were, long ago!" She gave a little angry toss of her head. "But it's not their affair, to know!"

Quint looked down at her, a grave sadness in his eyes. She had matured since that night she had declared herself free to live her own life, but she was still very young—she had much yet to learn.

Only a few men remained in the taproom for almost every man in the settlement had gone to the Buffalo village, either to attend the banquet or to linger about outside MacLeod's, for a chance glimpse of Captain Perry. But suddenly voices were raised in a chorus of greeting, and Becky, always hopeful that each newcomer might be Michael Duffy, flew to the door to peek through the taproom.

She flew back. "Jennet—it's Mr.
Erron! I told you he'd be coming!"

"He has only stopped in on his way to the banquet to see Uncle Quint."

But Jennet was listening. Very soon she heard only one voice and knew it was Erron's. Others began to talk, lauding Erron, doubtless, for his part in the capture.
Then they were drinking toasts to him. Evidently he was in no hurry to go on to the banquet. But what kind of manners had he, not to ask to pay his respects to her before he went on?

My New York
By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I got a letter the other day from Joe in Boston, and he wants to come back to the big town. Now, almost anybody else wanting to come back to New York, I can understand—but Joe? He must be off his rocker.

Joe has been up in Boston three, four years now. He left here that long ago when his father decided to retire from the law business and leave the practice to Joe. It's a good practice, and technically Joe is able to handle it, because he got his papers from Harvard Law School and because he comes from New England originally and knows how those odd minds up there work.

Before he went north to pick up the reins from the old man, Joe was a movie press agent here in the big town. He changed jobs from year to year, moving from this film company to this, but always his duties were pretty much the same. He was a liaison agent between movie stars and the press. Or, to be pithy about it, he wet-nursed actresses.

There are 40 or 50 of this type press agent around New York, and I think that of all the disillusioning jobs, theirs is the most so. Out on the west coast, when they get a movie ready for release, they usually press a plane ticket into the hot little palm of one of the stars of the film and tell her to get across to New York and bat her eyes a few times at newspapermen in interviews, or radio M. C.'s on whose shows her appearance as a guest will be arranged. She meets the Press at breakfast, luncheon, cocktails and dinner, and it is only occasionally that she is able to break through this tight little schedule and go off to have a few drinks by herself.

A magician seeking booking at Radio City Music Hall asserted, "I've got a new trick that will panic them." "What is it?" asked Manager Gus Eysell. "I saw a woman in half," announced the magician. "Call that a new trick?" scoffed Eysell. "They've been doing that around here for years." "Oh, yeah?"

countered the magician. "Lengthwise?"

Sneaked out of Budapest is the story of the secret police agent who was ordered by his chief to learn whether a skeleton in the museum really was, as alleged, that of Attila, Fifth-century chieftain of the savage Huns. The agent marched off with the skeleton and returned forty-eight hours later with what was left of it—a few splinters of bone. "It's Attila, all right," answered the agent. "How did you confirm it?" asked the chief. The agent answered proudly, "He confessed."

Demonstration Workshop For 4-H Clubs To Be Held In Lancaster On Saturday

City, County
Group To Attend

A 4-H demonstration workshop is to be held in Pleasantville Saturday.

The program will be started with a panel discussion, "The Place of Demonstrations in Local 4-H Meetings." Pickaway County will be represented on the panel by Miss Margie Dearth of Salt Creek Township. Following the discussion there will be several examples of demonstrations given; one by Carol Bass showing how to straighten material for tea towels.

Miss Eva Kinsey, will explain what goes into the plan for a short demonstration.

In the afternoon the members will be divided into smaller groups and outline what can be used in various projects. This will be followed by a food demonstration given by a team of girls from Ross County.

Last feature of the day's program will be a talk by Miss Jean Schoppe, home furnishings specialist in Ohio State university who will speak on, "How to Glamorize Home Furnishings Projects for 4-H Girls."

Planning to attend the workshop from Circleville and vicinity are Mrs. Harold Wright, Evelyn Wright and Martha Hughes of New Holland; Betty Jane Lamb, Atlanta; Mary Ann Deffenbaugh, Ellen Thompson, Margie Dearth and Yvonne Drake of Salt Creek; Elaine Quillen of Walnut; Miriam Hudson of Scioto; Barbara Smalley, Carol Bass, Addie Wertman, Jo Ellen Cross, Mrs. Donald Wolfe and Mrs. Larry Best of Circleville; Joyce Bolderser, Mrs. Luther List, Dorothy List of Pickaway; Mrs. Loring Stoe of Monroe; Rosemary Wright of Harrison and Weta Mae Leist of Washington.

Nebraska Grange Confers Degrees

A large number attended Nebraska Grange Tuesday evening when the third and fourth degrees were conferred on Mr. and Mrs. John Wright and Mrs. Charles Hines.

The regular Grange officers with Chester Noecker as master conferred the third degree while the young women's team with Miss Sarah Jane Hedges as master, conferred the fourth degree.

Mrs. Carl Sothorn asked members to contact Mrs. Felix Dor if they could give a donation when the bloodmobile visits Ashville, April 25.

Miss Eleanor Archer, lecturer, announced that visitors day would be observed May 6 in Veterans hospital, Chillicothe.

Refreshments were served by Miss Gladys Hines and her committee.

The next meeting will be directed by the men with David Klamforth as chairman.

'Little Foxes' Steal Limelight In Spring Styles

PARIS, April 19—The three little foxes—jackets, stoles and capes—have slyly captured the limelight in Parisian Spring and Summer fashions.

For the last few seasons, fox furs have been banished to a dark and inconspicuous corner in the fashion den. Now, they've sneaked out and bagged the astral spot in both casual and formal wear.

Ermine, mink and broadtail at the same time have slipped down from their luxurious pinnacle atop the most fashionable ladies' shoulders.

The sneak comeback of flattering fox pelts is the result of a bit of contriving between Norwegian fur breeders and Parisian furriers and stylists.

The pelts which went out of mode were undisguised and simply draped around a woman's neck. But the 1951 foxes masquerade as smart stoles and capelets complement evening wear and as full-fledged jackets to cover Spring and Summer prints.

One Parisian model is a super-long white fox stole made of three pelts. It can be draped in various ways and is designed to go out evenings with an exotic slim-lined formal dress.

Another Paris innovation for Spring is an evening cape of snow-white fox worked in horizontal bands and inlaid with black lace. For an extra luxurious touch, it has a white satin lining embroidered with glittering rhinestones.

White Indian lamb with pouch-sleeves is also Paris' idea of perfect Summer wear.

But lamb-like mink and broadtail—is being out-foxed this year.

Spring Garden Colors Brought Into Homes

NEW YORK, April 19—All the colors in flowering gardens this Spring can be brought indoors by housewives who are up to date on the home fashions calendar.

Colors are vivid and varied—in furniture, floor coverings and fabrics.

The black and white look is dramatic and new in furnishings this season. Designers are using extremely dark blackish wood in combination with light natural woods—or ever black metal seating pieces covered in white slipcover pads.

Woods just as nature meant them are popular too. Maple, pine, beech, cherry, ash, birch and even mahogany are all offered in light natural tones unhampered by stains.

Floor coverings are down-to-earth with browns in the limelight. Carpets and rugs range from tan to cinnamon to cocoa to chocolate and blackish browns.

Yellow and gold are important, too. And strawberry pink, lilac, chartreuse and dark shades of silver may be tomorrow's color news.

There's a romantic revival of the whole purple family in decorative fabrics. New Spring prints range from charcoal purple through mulberry, lilac and clear amethyst.

Sharp greens with blue tones, blue with red, taupe with pale rose are the favorite twin combinations.

A new trick is a line of pastels with a chalky look. It's done with grayed pink tones, stronger bieges, richer turquoise and aqua—and is found in those modern prints that strive for a prettier look.

District Rally Is Discussed

Carol Mitchell led the opening devotions at the meeting, Sunday evening, of Westminster Fellowship of Presbyterian church. The prelude was played by Donna Mitchell.

During the business session, there was a discussion of the district rally which will be held in Greenfield.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell led the program followed by refreshments furnished by Gene Dowler.

Patsy Huston and Barbara Schumm were recreation leaders for the evening.

Mrs. Hedges Gives Review

A review of the book, "So Sure of Life" by Violet Wood was presented to members of Group "F" of Presbyterian Women's association by Mrs. J. M. Hedges at their meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Hedges gave an account of the experiences of Dr. Robert Thomas who was sent as a medical missionary to the people living in the Tennessee mountain region.

According to Mrs. Hedges, Dr. Thomas had been in the foreign mission field but, realizing the futility of trying to convert those who were suffering from malnutrition and disease, he came back to the States and studied medicine so that he "could help his people develop physically as well as spiritually."

The business session was opened with devotions by Mrs. Donald Mitchell. Clothing, dried milk, soap and other supplies brought by members was packed into boxes to be sent to Korea.

Mrs. Ed Grigg and Mrs. Thomas Houghton served refreshments following the meeting and book review.

Methodist Class Fetes Lutherans

Young Peoples class of Tarlton Methodist church was host to Lutheran young people at a recent meeting held in Tarlton Methodist church.

Mrs. Albert Spangler presented a program consisting of group singing, a quiz, contests and readings. Taking part in the program were Mrs. Neola Fogler, Mrs. William Deffenbaugh, Mrs. Violet Rymer, Miss Joyce Woods, and the Rev. Richard McDowell.

Winners of the contests were Mrs. Nelson Jones, Mr. Thompson, the Rev. Mr. McDowell and Mrs. Joe Jenkins.

Refreshments were served following the program.

Neutral biege, according to a recent survey, is the most popular carpet color with consumers. Warmer shades of sun coral and cinnamon rate high, too, as do greens and greys. Red, burgundy, blue and gold are also in demand.

Make bathrooms as decorative as possible. Hang attractive prints on the walls. Wallpaper the ceiling. Buy brightly-colored towels.

Personals

Mrs. Anthony Waldenmaier and daughter, Kathryn, of Chicago, are expected to arrive Friday for a Spring vacation with her sister, Mrs. William Cook, and family of Park Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Southward and family of East Main street were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Graham of Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lovett and children of Stoutsville were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clark and family near Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ankrom and son, Jeff, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Ausnaugh and family of Stoutsville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Newland of East Mound street were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Marshall of Stoutsville.

Mrs. Maggie Morris of Watt street was a Sunday visitor of Mr. and Mrs. William Stein of Stoutsville.

David Ballard, student in the college of music in Cincinnati, spent last weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ballard of Tarlton.

Farewell Party Given Crabtrees

Members of Pleasant View Evangelical United Brethren church assembled in the home of the Rev. H. Glen Crabtree in Stoutsville Wednesday evening for a farewell party honoring the Crabtree family.

Pastor of the Stoutsville charge nearly four years, he has resigned effective about May 1 and will go to Nashville Congregational church near Tipp City.

Those attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth

Subordinates Install New Grange Officers

New officers of Juvenile Grange were installed at the meeting of Logan Elm Grange Tuesday evening. Virgil Timmons, Frank Graves, Mrs. Corilla Pontius and Mrs. Vera Miller were the installing officials.

Dale Bower was installed as master; Sue Hill, overseer; Sidney Graves, lecturer; Nathan Wilson, steward; Bruce Wilson, assisting steward; Nancy Wilson, chaplain; Linda Wilson, secretary; Robert Hardin, treasurer; Norman Wilson, gatekeeper; Patty Watson, Ceres; Lou Hill, Flora; Linda Miller, lady assisting steward; and Fairy Alkire, juvenile matron.

Mrs. Alkire was appointed by Timmons to arrange for the dinner to be given in May for Pomona Grange.

Alfred Gabriel gave a talk on the national Grange safety essay contest for juvenile members. The subject of the essay is, "What Kind of a Driver I Want to Be."

Refreshments were served by the committee headed by Dr. and Mrs. Wells Wilson.

The next meeting will be a seed and bulb exchange on May 1.

Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. George O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Poling, Mrs. Joe Valentine, Mrs. Harley Roll, Mrs. Helen Strous, Mrs. Ralph Heffner, Mrs. Ed Betts, Mrs. Aaron Poling, Mrs. Ed Aldenderfer, Mildred Heffner, Maxine Poling, Patty Woodward, Marie Poling, Sally Shirley, Billy and Bobby Weaver, Carl, Denny and Gary O'Hara, Gary, Denny and Kenny Valentine, Albert and Lester Betts, Ned Strous, Orland Herbert, John Roll and Charles Gildersleeve.

After a covered dish lunch the Crabtrees were presented with a gift by the group.

Newest Dog Actor Steals Scenes From Top Stars

HOLLYWOOD, April 19—This is certainly a community in which visitors pick up limitless odds and ends of information, all for their own amazement.

Just try to tell a movie actor or actress that a dog is man's best friend. Better an actor should try to gain attention while Ava Gardner is doing a fan dance than when a dog is up to his scene-stealing tricks.

Or a baby. Out in this neck of the woods, a movie baby's best friend, like the dog's, is its mother. The baby certainly hasn't any other on the set. Put a dog or a baby in a picture, and the grownup actors know they're licked from the start.

Right now, Shelley Winters and Farley Granger are gamely doing a picture in which a mutt named Corky is stealing them blind. And there is nothing they can do about it.

EVEN THEIR studio callously and enthusiastically believes that the picture will make a top flight star out of Corky, already a winsome and unprincipled ham.

"He makes Asta look like a bum," a happy studio executive said, referring thus slightly to the mutt that always stole "The Thin Man" comedies right out from under the actors.

Henry East, who has been training acting dogs for the movies for 35 years, said Corky is self-possessed and three-and-a-half-year-old.

A small, lively dog, Corky frisked about in friendly fashion as everyone cooed over him.

"He is a kinda combination of Welsh terrier, bird and sheep dog," East said, and added gratuitously "which is what gives him his different look."

On request of East, Corky ran his emotional gamut from A to B. He yawned, laughed, cried, pranced, and obediently rejected one out of five identical little hunks of roast beef he had been told not to touch.

"Don't ask him to sneeze," East warned. "He's all sneezed out." One of Corky's great scenes in the new pic is a hay fever sequence.

AT THE MOMENT, Corky's take-home pay is $350 a week, which is more, as East remarked darkly, than some two-legged actors earn. This is not Corky's first picture. "He had a small part in 'Queen for a Day,' but his current vehicle is expected to boost him to stardom and the marquee.

Corky's reward when he does a scene and steals it completely from the human competition is little hunks of roast beef with which East's pockets seem to be lined.

East, who runs a school for dogs, can remember the days when his dogs earned more per week than the glamorous stars. "But I do not wish to mention names even now," he said, "as comparison is odious, and what I always say is let sleeping actors lie."

2 Men Held For Death Of Ex-Boxer

COLUMBUS, April 19—Two men were held here today for manslaughter in connection with the death of a 38-year-old former prizefighter in a brawl early yesterday at a Columbus tavern and three others still are held as material witnesses.

Manslaughter charges have been filed against Ray E. Hill, 32, and Nile D. Eddy, 23, in the death of Andy Van Gelow, a former bantamweight fighter who boxed under the name of Andy Vassell.

The three held as material witnesses are James N. Cummings, 56; William J. Eversole, 43, and Robert Justin Jr., 31. Seven others picked up for questioning have been released.

Van Gelow was found dying on the street in front of a downtown restaurant early yesterday and was pronounced dead upon arrival at a Columbus hospital.

The coroner, Dr. Robert A. Evans, said death was caused by a "brain hemorrhage induced by repeated kicks about the head." Police said witnesses told them Van Gelow became involved in an argument with three men and a woman in the cafe and the fight ensued.

Water Supply Brings Factory

URBANA, April 19—A recently-discovered underground water supply at Urbana was given today as one of the principal reasons for plans to construct a $750,000 factory in the town.

The G. H. Leland Company of Dayton has announced plans to move its factory to Urbana and expand operations from 175 to 400 employees. The Leland Company manufactures rotary sole-noids, electric switches which release bombs from planes.

The vast underground reservoir which was discovered late last year has been cited as one of the main factors which influenced the construction of the liquid carbonic dry ice plant in Urbana.

2,000 Physicians To Attend Meet

CINCINNATI, April 19 — Two-thousand physicians will attend the annual meeting of the Ohio State Medical Association April 24-26 in Cincinnati.

Farm Wage Rates To Go Up About 10 Pct., Belief

WASHINGTON, April 19—The Agriculture Department fore-casts that farm wage rates this year will average more than 10 percent higher than they did in 1950.

The higher wages farmhands are in line to get this year will be mainly due to the continuing inflationary pressures nationally and the farm labor competition with higher industrial wages.

Officials say that some areas of the country will have diffi-culties in getting enough farm help, although the supply is ex-pected to be generally adequate.

They say that the armed forces and industry will continue to take manpower from farms, but if recruitment campaigns are ef-fective, more extensive use of persons not now in the farm la-bor force as well as farm work-

Chillicothe were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Poling.

Mrs. Paul Armstrong, Mrs. Jack Notestone and Mrs. Lloyd Eveland attended class in Cir-cleville Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Ray Poling and daugh-ters Linda Kay, Mary Frances and Rosemary Hitt, Mrs. Edith Armstrong and Miss Florence Stahr, were Monday guests of Sally Flowers program.

ers from outside Continental U. S. will help to fill the gap.

On another part of the farm front this year, the Agriculture Department says that farmers should be able to meet record demands for farm crops this year as far as machinery is con-cerned.

Farmers, officials say, had a record amount of machinery at the beginning of 1951, and "there probably is enough machinery now on farms—if it can be kept in repair."

Prices on farm machinery, ac-cording to the experts, is running now at about 10 percent higher than last year.

La Prensa Skit To Be Offered

BOWLING GREEN, April 19 —The Argentine government's suspension of La Prensa, noted Buenos Aires newspaper, is to be a dramatized highlight of the 11th annual convention of the Northwestern Ohio District Jour-nalism Association.

A 15-minute skit on La Prensa will be presented at Bowling Green State university May 3 be-fore several hundred high school students expected for the asso-ciation convention.

Grove Patterson, editor-in-chief of the Toledo Blade will address the convention on free-dom of the press.

College Sets Up Scientific Pool

YELLOW SPRINGS, April 19 —Antioch college is setting up something which may be unique—a scientific equipment pool designed to make expensive medical and biological equip-ment available to research groups which might otherwise be unable to afford the apparatus.

The Vernay Research Equip-ment Foundation already has bought an $1,800 flame photo-meter which is being used in re-search on bone growth of healthy children at Antioch's Fels Re-search Institute.

Confessor Denies Killing Wife

YOUNGSTOWN, April 19—John T. Higgins, 47, who con-fessed the killing of his wife 10 years ago, is being held in a Youngstown jail today awaiting a Columbiana County arraig-ment for murder.

Prosecutor James L. MacDon-ald said Higgins denied his pre-vious story that he killed his wife by dropping poison in her wine.

The coroner's record listed Mrs. Higgins death as a suicide from poisoning.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Director

A determined attempt by the British Labor government to remain in office through the medium of 23 cents worth of meat for each person weekly appears to be in the making today.

The broadest possible hint that the Socialists will bid for popularity on the meat issue was given to the House of Commons by Food Minister Maurice Webb.

He took the unusual course of predicting that by August the supply available for all consumers will be double that of the present. Webb added that increased home production coupled with renewal of an agreement for importations from Argentina will make this possible.

There is no question that meat is the hottest political item in Britain today.

It is on the minds of everyone. Newspapers and magazines are filled with bitter cartoons. The government is being attacked for bungling food distribution just at a time when the country is preparing for its Festival Of Britain—a nationwide exhibition designed to prove to the outside world that the British are neither down nor out.

There seems little doubt that an increase in the meat ration—the present "dole" amounts to about the size of an American hamburger—could mean victory for Labor and a new defeat for Winston Churchill.

The Conservatives doubtless will charge the Socialists with demagoguery and with thimble-rigging for the sake of an election triumph.

Foreign observers feel that Labor must make some spectacular appeal to the public. Several factors have emerged to show the gravity of Prime Minister Attlee's position.

First, Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell's budget presentation, widely praised at first, is now coming under fire in many quarters.

Much emphasis is given to the charge that by increasing the tax on distributed profits—meaning corporation shares earnings and dividends—Gaitskell has throttled private investment, particularly in enterprises that need initiative and encouragement.

Second, Minister of Labor Aneurin Bevan, a powerful figure in the Labor group, may challenge his own government and put it in an untenable position. Bevan warned he would not serve in a cabinet which imposed charges on patients benefiting from the free national health service he created.

But Gaitskell's budget would allow the government to charge half the actual costs for dental plates and spectacles. These hitherto have been gratis.

REGARDLESS of what Bevan does, political observers see the Labor government as being compelled to make some compensation.

The government has long taken the public view that British rationing is good for the national health and cites the fact that the weight of the average person has been increased by a scientifically worked out balance of calories.

But more and more critics, medical and otherwise, insist that this increase is directly traceable to greater consumption of starchy foods and that more meat is indispensable unless the people are to be robbed of the vitality needed in difficult times.

Another factor of considerable importance is the death of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who until his passing last Saturday remained a member of the cabinet as Lord Privy Seal.

Attlee has won a good deal of personal popularity through his modest, quiet ways.

But the loss of Bevin was a tremendous blow. The stocky, forceful former foreign minister was Attlee's sheet-anchor. Political commentators always felt that Labor would not lift a finger to aid any Conservative attempt to turn "Old Ernie" out of office.

Attlee lost another strong supporter in Sir Stafford Cripps, former chancellor of the exchequer who is ill in Switzerland, and he himself is laid up in a hospital with stomach ulcers.

If bit more meat can turn the trick for Socialism at the crossroads, the Labor government will do its best to get it and pass it around.

American steel companies will spend $1.2 billion for expansion during 1951, a record amount.

Continuation Of Crime Panel Said Assured

WASHINGTON, April 19—Continuation of the Kefauver Crime Committee is virtually assured today, but whether it will remain as an active investigating group or a watchdog body is undecided.

Sen. Wiley, (R) Wis., put the issue before the Senate by introducing a resolution calling for continuance until next Jan. 15 and a $150,000 appropriation for operating expenses.

Chairman Kefauver, (D) Tenn., said that the committee is agreed that the work must go on in some form, but that he is opposed to continuing the committee in its present status.

Sen. Hunt, (D) Wyo., saw possibility of a compromise by which the committee would, for the next several months, merely formulate and push legislation through Congress, and then resume investigating to see how the new laws are working.

Hunt declared that "we took a lot of samples and we have enough to draw conclusions and try to write curative legislation. After that job is done, it will be time to take some more samples and see what has been accomplished."

Kefauver indicated on the Senate floor that he would not object to another extension for bill-writing purposes. The committee, scheduled to end April 30 after having been granted a one-month continuance, has had total appropriations of $265,000.

Brief Time Left To Sign For NSLI

COLUMBUS, April 19 — The Ohio American Legion warned today that all veterans of the world wars have only a brief time to apply for National Service or U. S. Government Life Insurance.

Legion service director Robert H. Smith said it would no longer be possible for veterans of past wars to secure insurance after President Truman signs the new insurance bill passed April 13 by Congress.

Smith suggested that veterans who still desire government insurance should apply promptly to the nearest Veterans Administration office.

Saltcreek Valley

On last Sunday evening about 60 friends, relatives and neighbors came with well filled baskets to the home of the "Luckharts" of this valley. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Luckhart and the occasion was in honor of the 45th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Mowery. At an early hour a most sumptuous repast was served cafeteria style which consisted of almost everything imaginable to eat, which was greatly enjoyed by everyone. After which the Lord's prayer was repeated in concert by all. The fine large decorated "Wedding anniversary" cake was baked and presented by Mrs. Della Rife. The Mowerys wish to extend their heartfelt thanks for the beautiful flowers and many useful and nice presents received. The evening was spent in games and a general good time for all. A standing invitation was extended to all to come back to the Golden anniversary five years hence we hope. At a later hour all departed wishing the Mowerys many more occasions of the event after which they were favored by a beautiful duet entitled, "Good Night Irene", rendered by our good friends, "Happy" Wharton and John White of Marcy. The following were present. Board To Decide Fate Of College

WINTER PARK, Fla., April 19—The board of trustees of tiny Rollins college will meet April 27 in New York to decide the fate of the school's president, Dr. Paul A. Wagner.

Wagner, who at the age of 33 is the youngest college president

O. S. Mowery, Host and Hostess, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Luckhart, Saltcreek Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bright, who have spent the winter in St. Cloud, Fla., expect to be at their home in Tarleton by April 27.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Reichelderfer and James R. Reichelderfer spent Sunday in Columbus with Professor and Mrs. Paul Reichelderfer.

in the country, has been under fire since early March for ousting 19 faculty members and stopping the institution's inter-collegiate athletic program.

He blamed his action on lack of funds and a dwindling enrollment. At present, the school reportedly is $200,000 in debt.

Russian Aims Given By Pastor

FRANKFURT, April 19—Anti-Nazi Pastor Martin Niemöller told the Frankfurt Press Club today that Soviet Russia will not march west in Europe "before fulfilling her aims in the Far, Near and Middle East."

Niemöller, who recently conducted a campaign against German rearmament, said the Russians have not given up the idea of world revolution but that their immediate aim probably is Iran. He again urged postponement of German rearmament as long as possible and "win time."

Niemöller said that a neutral and unified Germany is the only salvation for "twenty-one million desperate Germans behind the Iron Curtain who are bound to be devoured in war."

FIREBALL POWERED

LET's see what it means to own a ROADMASTER.

It means, first of all, that you're a shrewd judge of fine manufacture. Nowhere will you find a mechanism more skilfully fitted part to part with scrupulous precision—engineered to stricter standards of fine-car quality—than the deep-framed and durable ROADMASTER chassis.

It means, also, that you possess keen appreciation of everything that makes for unsurpassed performance.

For there's more to this dazzling beauty than its thrilling take-off. There's the surplus of power that you need to make you the master of busy traffic or open road—plus the velvet magic of Dynaflo Drive (at no extra cost, mind you).

There's the level-going luxury of ample roadweight buoyantly balanced on coil springs on every wheel—and the security of brakes specifically engineered for firm control of this great-powered beauty.

But there's still another distinction to being a ROADMASTER owner.

It marks you as one who buys wisely and well. Size for size, pound for pound, feature for feature, few cars can even approach what your dollars will buy in this finest of Buicks.

There's much more to be discovered by a visit to any Buick dealer's showroom.

There's the sumptuous softness of cushions, the custom excellence of fabrics and interior trim, the grace and charm of every line and contour.

So if you've dreamed of sometime owning a car superbly fine, there's no time like the present—and no car like ROADMASTER for making dreams come true.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

RESULTS 'OUTSTANDING'

UN Anti-Malaria Outfits Whipping Bug In India

NEW DELHI, April 19—The ancient curse of malaria which takes a staggering worldwide death toll of three million with an additional 300 million infections each year, has been virtually wiped out over a 4,000 square-mile area of India, Thailand and Afghanistan as a result of work of anti-malaria teams of the World Health Organization (WHO), a United Nations specialized agency.

Using DDT supplied by the UN International Children's Emergency Fund, six anti-malaria teams working in the three countries have sprayed some of the worst malaria strongholds in the world and the results have been outstanding.

In most of the areas and villages sprayed, the teams report, the malaria-carrying mosquito has practically disappeared.

Control of the pestilence has more far-reaching effects than simply relief from a serious and often fatal disease. Recent malaria-control projects in Pakistan, as reported by the WHO Regional Office for the Eastern Mediterranean here, also resulted in higher living standards with shorter working hours.

THE YIELDS OF various crops increased along with an increase in the productivity of labor. An agricultural expert attached to one of the teams reported that in one area where houses had been sprayed with DDT, crops rose 15 percent while the number of man-hours of labor required per acre decreased by some 10 percent.

Control of malaria among children has also been gratifying. In Malnad, Mysore, in India, a large percentage of babies have always become infected with the disease during their first year of life. Since the commencement of spraying operations, the WHO teams report, all new born babies have remained free from malaria.

Likewise in the Terai and Bhabar tracts of the United Provinces, the teams' examination of 3,000 infant blood smears showed a reduction in malaria infection from 60 percent to nil.

The team in Western Ghats, Malabar, district reported the virtual elimination of the malaria-carrying mosquito from an area of 142 square miles giving protection to many hundreds of thousands of persons in adjoining areas to which malaria was found to be spreading.

In the Sarapee district of northern Thailand, a malaria control team has observed a drop in spleen rates (a standard test for malaria) from 70.5 percent to 31.4 percent since March 1950. In the same period the rates remained constant in unsprayed areas. These comparative figures are accepted as positive proof of the efficiency of the control.

Office Clerk Dies In Mishap

CLEVELAND, April 19—A 38-year-old Cleveland office clerk died in Mount Sinai hospital last night a few hours after she was run over by an automobile on the city's east side.

Miss Rose Elconin, the victim, suffered a fractured collarbone, broken ribs and other internal injuries. The driver, an east side dentist, told police he did not see her.

Committee Kills Health Bill

COLUMBUS, April 19—The house health committee today killed a bill which would have forced a cut in the number of health districts in the state.

By voice vote, the committee indefinitely postponed action which would have limited health districts to one in each of the 88 counties and an additional one in cities of 50,000 population or more.

Sweepers Ready For Mac Parade

NEW YORK, April 19—One thousand street sweepers and 150 supervisors have been assigned to the parade route along which General Douglas MacArthur will pass in New York tomorrow.

They will be aided by 50 Flushing machines and 15 mechanical sweepers.

Uppermost in the minds of the "white wings" is the question: How much waste paper, confetti and ticker tape will shower the streets?

The record is 1,800 tons, set up in the parade for Howard Hughes on July 15, 1938. The previous record was 1,750 tons, removed on June 13, 1927, after the city had feted Charles A. Lindbergh.

Ohio Crime Probe Bill Proposed

TOLEDO, April 19—Senator Virgil E. Kramer (R - Lucas County) will introduce a bill into the state legislature today to create a council that could order a special grand jury to investigate law enforcement of any Ohio county.

Kramer said he will offer the bill as a solution to the increase in crime, gambling and other law violations.

If the proposal is enacted, he predicted the general assembly will be able "to eliminate the irresponsible of the enforcement officials to meet a state-wide problem."

STATISTICS ARE DETAILED

Traffic Casualty List Far Higher Than In War

A total of 35,500 Americans died violently on the highways of the nation last year, and 1,799,802 suffered injuries.

This casualty total of 1,835,300, the sum of America's 1950 traffic victims, is about 30 times greater than the total of our dead, wounded or missing men in Korea, according to a booklet on traffic statistics published by a large eastern insurance company.

The average 1950 traffic victim was a middle aged man. He had had several years driving experience. His car was in good condition and he was on a straight, dry stretch of open highway. It was 7:30 on a clear Saturday night. He was speeding. He was killed in a collision with another car.

"The record for 1950 in relation to the record for 1949 and the years before is frightening—and much more ominous," the booklet states.

"Until 1950, the death toll had been held in check, even reduced, every year since 1946, in spite of a heavy increase in the number of motor vehicles in use."

"In 1950 this heartening trend was broken to bits by an unprecedented rise. Last year 3,700 more men, women and children were killed than in 1949. From a low of 31,800 the fatality total in one year leaped nearly half way to the appalling record of 40,000 deaths."

THE TYPES of accidents resulting in deaths and injuries were collision with:

Pedestrians, 9,400 killed, 299,500 injured; automobile, 12,410 killed, 1,034,430 injured; horse-drawn vehicle 40 killed, 1,800 injured; railroad train, 1,430 killed, 9,000 injured; street car, 40 killed, 3,600 injured; other vehicle, 120 killed, 3,600 injured; fixed object, 3,000 killed, 117,560 injured; bicycle 450 killed, 33,750 injured; non-collision, 8,530 killed, 291,160 injured; miscellaneous, 80 killed, 5,400 injured. Speed took 13,300 lives last year. Speed caused 475,500 injuries. And speed was the mistake made by one out of every three drivers involved in last year's serious accidents.

Other causes were driving on the wrong side of the road, failing to have the right of way, cutting in, passing a standing street car, passing on a curve or hill, failing to signal or signalling improperly, car running away without a driver, driving off the roadway and reckless driving.

Drivers under 25 years of age make up almost 20 percent of the total of all drivers, but last year, this group was responsible for more than 27 percent of 1950's fatal accidents.

"The fact that young drivers were involved in a smaller percentage of non-fatal wrecks, is no consolation," says the booklet. "To the contrary, it reveals the nature of their driving mistakes: excessive speed and recklessness. These are the errors that lead to head-on collisions and the violent crashes from which there is no escape."

YEAR IN AND year out, the booklet continues, nine out of 10 drivers involved in accidents are male. Men, however, do most of the driving and over greater distances than women, so neither can be singled out as clearly superior.

"Three out of four traffic accidents happen in clear weather on dry roads. Rain, fog, sleet, snow and ice are obvious obstacles to safe driving."

"When the weather is nasty and roads are slippery, drivers generally exercise extra caution, or leave the car in the garage."

"Clear weather and dry roads invite more driving and faster driving and 75 percent of the accidents."

"From the standpoint of traffic deaths, the most dangerous single hour of the day or night during 1950 was from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. The worst time for injuries was two hours earlier, from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m."

"Fifty-seven percent of last year's fatal accidents occurred during hours of darkness; 42 percent of 1950's injury accidents happened in the dark."

The booklet placed the blame for a heavy share of the nighttime traffic accidents on the drinking driver.

Saturday and Sunday retain their doubtful distinction as the most dangerous days of the week in traffic.

Paralytic, 80, Suffers Burns

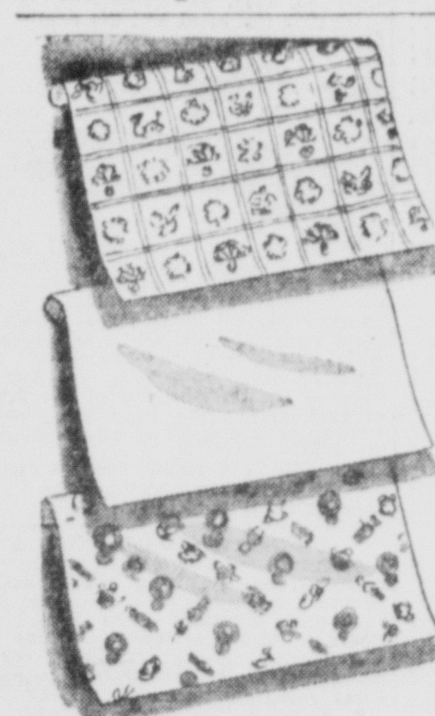

CLEVELAND, April 19—An 80-year-old Cleveland paralytic was reported in fair condition at Charity hospital today where he is recovering from third degree burns of the hips and legs.

Daniel Moriarty, who is paralyzed from the waist down, dozed off in his armchair and upset an ash tray into his lap at his home on the city's east side.

McArthur Closes For MacArthur

McARTHUR, April 19—Today is MacArthur day in McArthur, Ohio.

Although the spelling is different, the sentiment of the 1,400 residents is the same.

Mayor John Crow has issued a proclamation, closing businesses and schools for a parade this afternoon.

Use Of Hybrids Outside Corn Belt Is Being Urged

WASHINGTON, April 19—Agriculture Secretary Brannan is urging farmers outside the Corn Belt to plant more adapted hybrid corn this year to help meet mobilization requirements.

Brannan, in his call for more hybrid use, declared that "most farmers in the Corn Belt are already planting hybrid seed, with the result that yields have been increasing sharply in recent years."

"However," he said, "the percentage of hybrids is not yet nearly so great in the non-commercial, border states. To the extent that adapted hybrid seed stocks are available, farmers in these areas should consider shifting over to this high-yielding seed."

While Brannan is pushing greater use of hybrid corn seed, the secretary also urged farmers to use all available methods practical to assure the nation of adequate yields from feed grain fields.

"Bringing corn and other feed grain planting up to the needed acreage totals is the first concern," the secretary says, "and farmers in many areas are now reappraising their planting intentions."

"At the same time, it is obvious that production will depend not only on planted acreage but also on the yield attained on that acreage."

Church May Lose College Control

COLUMBUS, April 19 — The Ohio Legislature's use virtually completed action yesterday on a bill to divorce the African Methodist Episcopal church from all control over the state college at Wilberforce, now to be known as "Central State College."

The name "Wilberforce" has been abandoned to the AME church for operation of the church school, which occupies adjoining ground.

The bill, which passed the house 105-16, would cut the number of Central State College trustees from nine to seven, with the church having no voice in the selection of any of them. Present trustees will serve until their terms expire.

The measure places Central State on the same basis of operation as the other five state universities.

Yank-Tribe Pitching Paying Off

Box and Tigers Take Drubbings

NEW YORK, April 19 — The New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians have proved today that pitching is a team's best friend—when it's good and their own.

A possible indication of things to come in the American League race may be gathered from the fact that both the Yankees and the Indians have won their first two games against hardy foes on the strength of some brilliant hurling.

The Bronx Bombers stilled the unexplainable Boston Red Sox 6 to 2 yesterday as Lefty Ed Lopat limited two Soxers to just two singles.

Cleveland made it two in a row over the Detroit Tigers when Early Wynn tamed the Bengals, 2 to 2, in ten innings with a fourth job.

On opening day, Vic Raschi held the Red Sox to six singles in blanking them, 5 to 0. That makes a total of one run and eight singles picked up against Yankee pitching by the so-called Fenway Flairers.

BOB LEMON ALLOWED the Tigers two hits as he beat them, 2 to 1 in the season get away. So trot has managed three runs and six hits off Tribe hurling in two games. That isn't hefty in any sense.

Lopat, who helped his own cause with a two-run homer in the eighth, had a no-hitter going for 6 1-3 innings. This was spoiled by Ted Williams' single.

The Yankees clinched the win with a four-run attack on Harry "Cylor in the fifth inning.

Catcher Jim Hegan was a big help to Wynn in his victory yesterday. Hegan homered to send the game into overtime in the ninth inning. The backstop also contributed three singles, driving in a total of two runs.

Ray Boone singled home the winning run in the tenth and the final run came in on an error.

Dizzy Trout, who gave way to Hal White in the tenth, was charged with the defeat.

Washington's Senators came up with three runs in the ninth inning to down the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 4, in a night game. It was the Nats' second straight win over the A's and the victory was credited to Bob Kuzava, who got help in the ninth from Mickey Harris.

The Chicago White Sox — St. Louis Browns night game was rained out.

JIM KONSTANTY'S 1951 relief debut was marred by the Brooklyn Dodgers who scored two runs in the ninth inning to top the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 3. Big Jim had been rushed to the rescue of Bubba Church. A triple by Duke Snider and a

Trio Of Tests Due Friday For Tiger Athletes

All three Circleville high school Spring sports teams are slated to see action Friday afternoon.

Tiger golfers are due to travel to Chillicothe Friday for a triangular match with Lancaster.

CHS golfers will be seeking their second win in as many starts during the road trip after having opened their season with 15-5 victories over both Lancaster and Columbus North in an earlier triangular test.

Circleville's track team is slated to travel to Wilmington Friday afternoon to challenge the Hurricane cindermen.

Tiger tracksters will be seeking their second win in four starts for the season in the match with the SCO league member school.

IN EARLIER meets, Circleville won over Lancaster while scoring second in a triangular with Columbus East and Linden McKinley and losing to Chillicothe.

Red and Black baseballers will seek to make their third successful defense of their South Central Ohio League championship title at 4 p. m. Friday when they play host to invading Hillsboro Indian hardballers.

Victorious in last year's league play with a record of seven wins in eight games, the Tiger baseball team so far has earned a 5-4 victory over Wilmington and a 7-1 win over Washington C. H.

All three Tiger teams are slated for action again next week, also.

Golfers will play host to Bexley next Tuesday and travel to Columbus North next Thursday; the track team will travel to Bexley Monday and to Westerville Friday; and CHS baseballers will play host to Wilmington next Tuesday and to Chaucery Dover Friday.

Knicks Tie Up Pro Cage Playoff

NEW YORK, April 19 — The New York Knickerbockers and the Rochester Royals are deadlocked at three games apiece today in their playoff battle for the National Basketball Association championship.

The Knicks forced the best-of-seven playoffs into the final game by whipping the Royals, 80 to 73 last night in New York.

The final game will be played in Rochester Saturday night.

Last night's win was the third straight for the Knicks in the see-saw playoffs. Rochester had copped the first three games.

single by Jackie Robinson brought in the runs that evened up the teams at one win apiece.

All Philadelphia runs scored off winning pitcher Preacher Roe resulted from homers. Willie Jones hit two out of the park and Dick Sisler tagged the slim southpaw for another.

The Boston Braves evened up with the New York Giants when a three-run homer by Sam Jethroe in the ninth brought the Beantowners an 8 to 5 victory.

The Giants had ruined Johnny Sain's efforts to gain his 100th major league win by tying the score with a two-run outburst in the top of the ninth.

Ex-Giant Walker Cooper starred for the Braves. Coop slammed home two runs with a single in the sixth and another with a homerun in the eighth.

Al Gettel, third Giant pitcher of the game, was charged with the loss, although Dave Koslo served up the homerun ball to Jethroe.

Jim Wilson was credited with the win for Boston.

The other National League teams were not scheduled.

PICKAWAY WINS, 25-0

Ashville, Monroe Move Into Finals With Wins

Ashville and Monroe baseball teams advanced into the final round of the winner's bracket of the 1951 Pickaway County baseball tournament Wednesday in Ted Lewis Park.

Ashville, winner of last year's county championship, earned a 6-1 victory over Scioto in its game to advance into the finals of its bracket.

Monroe hardballers edged out a narrow 5-4 victory over Darby in the other winners' bracket semifinal match.

Monroe will challenge Ashville for the winners' bracket championship Friday in the city park. Winner of the game will be but one game away from the 1951 county championship while the loser will be dropped into the losers' bracket for another possible shot at the tourney title.

In other Wednesday games, Pickaway and Walnut advanced into the losers' bracket semifinals round while Saltcreek and Jackson were eliminated from this year's tournament.

PICKAWAY MOVED up in the losers' bracket with a lopsided 25-0 five-inning victory over Saltcreek, while Walnut advanced in the bracket with a 16-7 victory over Jackson.

Schedule for Friday's third round of the tournament calls for Scioto to meet Darby at 10 a. m. for the first losers' semifinal; Pickaway to meet Walnut at noon for the second losers' semifinal; and Ashville to meet Monroe at 2 p. m. in the winners' bracket final.

Winners of the two losers' games slated for Friday will meet each other at 4 p. m. Friday following the Ashville-Monroe encounter at 2 p. m. Monday in the city park, while the winner of that game will meet the winner of the Ashville-Monroe tilt at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the park for a crack at the tourney title.

In Wednesday's winners' bracket eliminations, Ashville opened its contest against Scioto hardballers on even footing, with both teams earning first-inning runs.

Ashville outlasted the Scioto aggregation in later innings, however, tallying three runs in the third and a brace of tallies in the seventh to clinch the victory while holding Scioto scoreless.

Although the winning Ashville team committed seven errors in the fracas, Scioto was able to capitalize on the bobbles for only the single run.

Winning pitcher in the game was Ashville's Swoyer, who fanned five of the Scioto swatters while allowing only two hits. Messick of Ashville earned the best slugging record for the game, rapping out two safeties in three trips to plate.

Scioto's McGee was the losing pitcher, whiffing eight Ashville batters although being nicked for 10 hits.

In the Darby-Monroe encounter, Darby opened the fracas with a run in the first inning and added another tally in the second before Monroe was able to score.

COMING FROM BEHIND the 2-1 deficit, Monroe too' the lead in the fourth frame with a brace of runs for a 3-1 advantage. Darby retaliated in the fifth and sixth innings with singles, while Monroe added a single for itself in the fifth.

Going into the final seventh inning of play with the score deadlocked at 4-all, Monroe held the Darby Trojan nine scoreless, while collecting itself the game-winning tally in the last half of the inning.

Winning pitcher for Monroe was Haller, who whiffed nine of the Darby batsmen while allowing eight hits. Darby's Chaffin was charged with the loss.

In the Saltcreek-Pickaway losers' tilt, Saltcreek was eliminated from the tournament after falling to a 25-0 deficit in the first two innings of play. The game was called at the end of five innings of play for the Saltcreekers.

Evans and Pontius of Pickaway teamed together during the fracas to earn a no-hit, no-run victory. The pair of pitchers fanned 11 Saltcreek players while blanking the other team in the hit and run departments.

In the Walnut-Jackson tilt, Jackson was eliminated from the tourney by falling to a 16-7 defeat.

Walnut opened scoring operations early in the encounter, snapping into an eight-run scoring spree in the first inning.

The Walnut aggregation added a trio of runs to its credit in the third, a single in the fourth and two runs in each the sixth and seventh innings.

Jackson's slower scoring efforts accounted for two runs in the second, two in the fifth and three in the sixth.

Winning pitcher for Walnut was Wipple, while Jackson's Downs was charged with the loss.

Line scores of the four Wednesday tourney tilts follow:

Ashville	103	000	2	6	10	7
Scioto	100	000	0	1	2	1
Darby	110	011	0	4	8	9
Monroe	010	210	1	5	5	4
Saltcreek	0	0	0	0	0	13
Pickaway	9	16	0	0	25	13
Walnut	803	102	2	16	7	2
Jackson	020	023	0	7	4	8

Columbus Birds Lose Opener In Association Race

COLUMBUS, April 19—Everybody is in the act now that Minneapolis and Columbus have weathered their opening games of the American Association's 1951 season.

The opener last night delayed a day by cold weather proved to be a disappointment for the Columbus Rebirds, the 1950 "Little World Series" champions, but was a 14-7 victory for Minneapolis, last year's association pennant winners.

A single by Alex Delagarza won a 4-3 decision last night for the Toledo Mudhens over St. Paul. The Hens had to go 10 innings for the victory. Only 494 fans braved the chilly weather to see their triumph.

A ninth-inning tally broke a tie and gave Kansas City a 2-1 win over Louisville. The scheduled Milwaukee-Indianapolis tilt in Indianapolis was rained out.

Lebanon Raceway Ready For Season

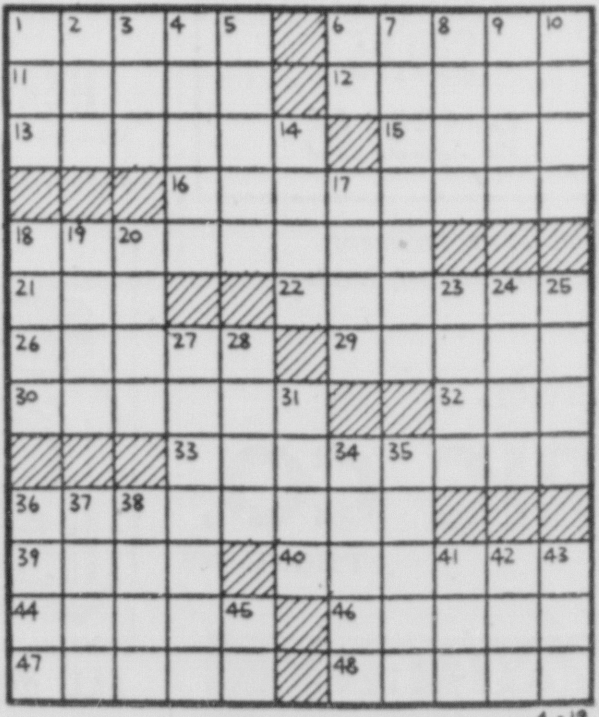

LEBANON, April 19 — There's nothing old-fashioned about night harness racing the way it will be run at Lebanon Raceway from May 12 through June 2.

One of the best lighted and modern raceways in the Midwest the Warren County mecca for trotters and pacers will sport the latest in starting gates and photo finish equipment.

Architect To Study Cafeteria Problem

Educators Plan Fall Operation

Glass To Survey Local Needs

Cincinnati board of education has decided to lay its cafeteria program problems in the lap of a trained school architect.

F. F. Glass of Columbus has been offered the job of investigating the board's building problems in connection with setting a school lunch program into operation here this fall.

Glass, architect for the board for the new Atwater elementary school, the industrial arts building and the proposed new $475,000 physical education plant, has been asked to obtain all data needed to start the school lunch program here.

In addition, he is expected to be asked to look over the building and make recommendations as to the best possible location of the lunchroom and storage rooms.

Other improvements for the school also are being talked by the board.

BOARD CLERK Virgil Cress has been authorized to obtain prices for the purchase of a new stage curtain for the school auditorium.

The board made the move when advised that "rags" had been pinned to the back side of the present curtain so that the audience would not see through the curtain.

In addition, Cress told the board that the Stooze Club of the school plans to make an improvement to the Corwin street side of the building.

The clerk, also adviser to the boys' club, said the Stooze plan to install an iron fence along the walkway of the Corwin street side, add topsoil to the barren ground there and sod it.

The fence was obtained from the "Stout house" lot, which is to be used for the new industrial arts building.

The board also approved repair of the present gymnasium floor in the high school building. Cress was given the nod to purchase "about 1,000 feet" of lumber for the repair work, which is expected to be completed by the industrial arts class.

20-Year Term Given For Attack

COBURG, Ontario, April 19—Ralph Carey, 26-year-old Canadian air force veteran, today began serving a 20-year prison sentence for breaking into a Port Hope home and attacking a 24-year-old mother of a young child.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer said in sentencing Carey, "you are a dangerous man to be at large in a community where there are women. I have had some doubts that I could ever allow you to be at large again, but I trust some medical treatment may be devised for you."

Mrs. MacArthur, Arthur Examine Video In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19—Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and her son, Arthur, appeared on television here yesterday for the first time.

General MacArthur's attractive wife said she was "excited and thrilled" and added:

"This is the first time I've really seen TV."

She told her audience:

"Thank all of you so much. I'm sorry we have to rush off."

Young Arthur in answer to a single question about what he was looking forward to on his first trip to America said:

"Baseball, swimming and all sports."

The TV appearance was made just before the MacArthurs left their hotel for San Francisco's official reception.

During the brief TV session, Mrs. MacArthur was walking around trying to get a look at herself in the monitor set.

Pacific Defense Act Near, Claim

MELBOURNE, April 19—Australian Minister for External Affairs Percy Spender forecast today a "speedy conclusion" of negotiations for a Pacific defense pact announced in Washington by President Truman.

Spender described the President's announcement as "a green light on the road to Pacific security."

He said the plan under which the United States, Australia and New Zealand will join in a mutual aid program "reflects the most important single development in Australian foreign relations since the war."

Teacher Pay Higher In W. Va.

COLUMBUS, April 19—The Ohio legislature was warned today that unless it "acts promptly" on pending school legislation Ohio teachers will "cross the river to take jobs in West Virginia."

W. A. Smith, Pomeroy school superintendent, said in a statement issued by the Ohio Education Association that "the smallest rural community in West Virginia is now able to pay teacher salaries $500 to $800 higher than in many schools in the nine counties which border on West Virginia."

British Census Decline Seen

NEW YORK, April 19—A leading British physician says that the population of Great Britain will eventually shrink by 30 million—to a point where the land can feed its inhabitants.

Dr. Robert Hughes Parry, health officer of Bristol, England, and honorary physician to King George, said Britain's present population of 50 million is far out of line. He added, "to my mind, time will bring the answer, whether we like it or not."

'Price Of Peace' Talks Scheduled Over UN Radio

LAKE SUCCESS, April 19—"The price of peace is individual effort," according to Sir Benegal Narsing Rau of India, the first speaker in a 14-week series of broadcasts by leading diplomats over the United Nations Radio.

The series, which is called "The Price of Peace," has been undertaken by the UN Department of Public Information as a public service, to make known the views of outstanding UN delegates and to stimulate thinking and discussion on this issue in all parts of the world.

Their forthright statements of national views and of their governments' expectations for the near future," said UN Assistant Secretary-General Benjamin Cohen of Chile, in introducing the program, "should help to clarify the thinking of audiences who listen to these English broadcasts and of those who shall be reached in other languages or will read everywhere the opinions voiced by these leaders."

The following are scheduled to speak during April: Dr. Luis Padilla Nervo, Permanent Representative of Mexico, April 21; and Ambassador Warren R. Austin, Permanent Representative of the United States, April 28.

THEIR ADDRESSES will be broadcast over the following national radio networks: In the United States, the Columbia Broadcasting System; in Australia, the Australian Broadcasting Commission; in Canada, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Hitler's Yacht Going To Scrap

JERSEY CITY, April 19—The 476-foot yacht on which Adolf Hitler dreamed of world conquest was tied up at a Jersey City dock today, to be broken up into scrap.

The $4 million Grille (German for "whim" or "caprice") was presented to Hitler by the German people in 1935.

The yacht, captured by the British while serving as a mother ship for German U-boats during World War II, was bought by the North American Smelting Co. for "well over $100,000."

Death Claims Fracture Victim

FRONTON, April 19—William E. Jackson, 46, formerly of Columbus, who died yesterday in Lawrence County hospital, was believed to have lived longer than any other sufferer from osteogenesis imperfecta—a relatively rare bone disease.

Jackson, whose bones did not have the normal facility for using calcium, suffered 137 bone fractures in 31 years.

Painesville Shuns School Bonds

PAINESVILLE, April 19—Painesville voters have rejected a proposed $175,000 bond issue for additions to the Harvey high school and four elementary schools.

It was the first time in 13 years that a school proposal had been turned down here.
